DESCRIPTION

Westley Richards .318 take apart, bolt action rifle. Built for the Earl of Lovelace in 1930 it features a 21" detachable barrel with our combination foresight, barrel band, rear island express sight with one standing sight regulated at 100 yards and four folding leaves regulated to 500 yards. Built on a standard length Mauser action with the original flag safety, chequered horn bolt knob, double set triggers and lever release on the floor plate. Full pistol grip stock with no cheekpiece, sling stud, stock oval, Silvers recoil pad, horn forend tip and barrel release catch. The stock has been pinned and repaired below the action but the rifle remains in good, original condition.
